CM Murray expands global reach

26 February, 2010

Canary Wharf based CM Murray LLP is continuing its expansion with return of Charis Damiano as a Consultant to expand its Employment practice in the US.

Charis is based in New York and will work as a Consultant for the firm, concentrating on the firm's already strong relationships with US clients and law firms. Prior to her going on maternity leave and moving to the US, Charis was a partner in the London office and has worked at CM Murray since 2007.

Clare Murray, Managing Partner of CM Murray LLP said, "It is great to have Charis back working with us; she knows the firm and our client base really well. This is a great opportunity for us to build our international business further, by having someone on the ground in New York who can provide support to our existing US clients and develop new relationships for us".
